

John M. DeMassa, Ph.D.
PRESIDENT

Dear Prospective Students,

The New England School of Theology invites you to consider our Fall 2011 course offerings. We feel certain these courses will provide a foundational Christian educational experience and equip you to achieve your ministry goals. The faculty also looks forward to serving you and learning from your varied and rich experiences, just as we have in previous semesters. We trust our gatherings will continue to be a blessing for all and honoring to our Lord.

Please inspect the following brief course descriptions and pray about your involvement this fall. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact me directly or visit us at NESTheology.org.

In Christ, John DeMassa

SCHEDULE—Fairfield Campus Fall 2011 ***

New Testament Greek I

12-week series on Monday evenings 6:30-8:30 pm,
September 12-December 12 (no class Oct 10 or 31)

Prophets and Prophecy

7-week series on Saturday mornings, 9:00-11:30am,
September 10-October 22

Science and Theology

7-week series on Saturday mornings, 9:00-11:30am,
October 29-December 17 (no class Nov 26)

Wasted Evangelism

4-week series on Saturday mornings, 9:00-11:00am,
January 7-28

* Classes held at Trinity Church, 300 North Benson Road, Fairfield CT 06824

For affordable pricing and discounts please visit our "Admissions and Enrollment" page at our website.

"Offering multi-site Christian education for all"

John M. DeMassa, M.Div., Ph.D.
President

The New England School of Theology
P.O. Box 1174
Fairfield, CT 06825
Ph: 203-554-0850
e-mail: john.demassa@nestheology.org

The New England
School of Theology
FAIRFIELD, CT

NEST...A Place to Grow

Fall 2011 Course Schedule Fairfield Campus

P.O. Box 1174
Fairfield, CT 06825
Ph: 203.554.0850
e-mail: info@nestheology.org

Course Descriptions

New Testament Greek I: The Basics

— Rev. Chip Anderson, Instructor

Serious students of the Bible who are interested to “step it up a notch” in their knowledge of the New Testament will benefit from learning the basics of New Testament Greek. This course will give the self-learner and motivated student of the Bible the basics for understanding the original text of the New Testament and will prepare Bible students to read and study the Greek text of First John (in the second semester). This course will be beneficial to preachers and Bible study leaders as they seek to interpret the Bible for others.

Prophets and Prophecy

— Ray Pennoyer, Ph.D., Instructor

This course will explore the fascinating and challenging topic of Biblical prophecy. “Prophecy” in the Bible encompasses everything from the early prophets Elijah and Elisha, classical “writing” prophets such as Amos and Isaiah, the apocalyptic visions contained in the Book of Daniel and the Book of Revelation, and the gift of prophecy in the New Testament. By the end of the course, students should find the prophets less strange, but more compelling and powerful. The overall purpose of this course is to equip students with the concepts and tools they need to be faithful interpreters and teachers of this portion of Scripture.

Science and Theology: Domains and Dogma

— John DeMassa, Ph.D., Instructor

This course surveys the formal areas of science and theology - identifying their topics of study, methodological practices, and philosophical assumptions. In addition to comparing and contrasting each, a thorough historical evaluation will be explored, helping to set the context for a full discussion on apparent areas of dispute but also agreement. The student will also be exposed to contemporary scholarship that has thoughtfully constructed models holding these two great houses of truth in a cooperative worldview.

Wasted Evangelism: The Gospel of Mark, Evangelism, and Social Action

— Rev. Chip Anderson, Instructor

Most Christians believe that evangelism is an important component of the Christian life. Also, many Christians believe that helping the poor is a biblical responsibility. But most Christians do not know that there is a biblical relationship between evangelism and social action. Utilizing the Gospel of Mark, this course will help the student to investigate the relationship between the gospel we believe and advocacy for the poor.

